Q. How did the TCJA change the standard deduction and itemized deductions?

A. The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act nearly doubled the standard deduction and eliminated or restricted many itemized deductions in 2018 through 2025. It also eliminated the “Pease” limitation on itemized deductions for those years.

THE STANDARD DEDUCTION
The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (TCJA) increased the standard deduction from $6,500 to $12,000 for individual filers, from $13,000 to $24,000 for joint returns, and from $9,550 to $18,000 for heads of household in 2018. As before, the amounts are indexed annually for inflation. TCJA changed the measure used for inflation indexing from the consumer price index for all urban consumers (CPI-U) to the chained CPI-U—a more accurate measure but one that results in a smaller upward adjustment each year.

ITEMIZED DEDUCTIONS
TCJA eliminated or restricted many itemized deductions in 2018 through 2025. This, together with a higher standard deduction, will reduce the number of taxpayers who itemize deductions. TPC estimates that in 2018 the share of all households that itemize will shrink to 10 percent because of the tax overhaul.

State and local taxes (SALT). Taxpayers can still deduct state and local real estate, personal property, and either income or sales taxes in 2018, but TCJA capped the total SALT deduction at $10,000.

Mortgage interest. TCJA limited the deduction to the home mortgage interest on the first $750,000 of mortgage debt (reduced from the pre-TCJA limit of $1 million of mortgage debt) for mortgage loans taken out after December 15, 2017. In addition, homeowners may no longer deduct interest paid on home equity loans, which was allowed for loans up to $100,000 before TCJA, unless the debt is used to buy, build, or substantially improve the taxpayer’s home that secures the loan. Homeowners may still deduct mortgage interest on their primary residence and a second home.

Charitable contributions. TCJA increased the limit on deductions for charitable contributions from 50 percent to 60 percent of adjusted gross income (AGI).

Medical expenses. Under the TCJA, taxpayers may deduct unreimbursed medical expenses that exceed 7.5 percent of their AGI in 2017 and 2018, rather than the pre-TCJA floor of 10 percent of AGI.

How did the TCJA change the standard deduction and itemized deductions?

Other itemized deductions. TCJA eliminated deductions for unreimbursed employee expenses, tax preparation fees, and other miscellaneous deductions. It also eliminated the deduction for theft and personal casualty losses, although taxpayers can still claim a deduction for certain casualty losses occurring in federally declared disaster areas.

Limitation on itemized deductions. TCJA eliminated the “Pease” limitation on itemized deductions. Before TCJA, taxpayers reduced their itemized deductions by 3 percent of every dollar of taxable income above certain thresholds. The total reduction was capped at 80 percent of the total value of itemized deductions.

The Effect of the TCJA on Major Itemized Deductions

The TCJA will significantly decrease the number of taxpayers claiming itemized deductions and the average tax saving from claiming them. The following figures compare the estimated percentage of taxpayers with a tax benefit from the three major itemized deductions—state and local taxes, mortgage interest, and charitable contributions—and the tax saving from claiming them in 2017 and 2018, before and after the new law is in place. The tax benefit is measured as the reduction in tax liability from the deduction, which takes into account the applicable tax rates in each year, the effects of the alternative minimum tax (which disallows the SALT deduction), and the overall limit on itemized deductions (the “Pease” limit) that was in place in 2017 but eliminated for 2018 by TCJA.

The percentage of taxpayers with a tax benefit from the SALT deduction will fall from about 25 percent in 2017 to 10 percent in 2018, from 20 percent to 8 percent for the mortgage interest deduction, and from 21 percent to 9 percent for the charitable contributions deduction (figure 1).

The decline in the tax benefit from the deductions is even more dramatic. Measured as a percentage of after-tax income, the tax saving from the SALT deduction in 2018 will be about one-quarter of what it was in 2017 overall. For taxpayers in the top 1 percent of the income distribution, the tax saving in 2018 will be about one-tenth of the tax saving in 2017 (figure 2).
